

Group Meeting Reflection

Meeting Details

- Host: David Gabayan
- Main Speakers: Efren Luzon, Josh Agulo
- Participants: Hanesher Nazario, Erick Te, Jay Dhanwani
- Observer: Shanaiah Cava
- Guests: Ray Untal, Kylene Barreda

Reference Links

- Meeting Recording: Watch on YouTube
 - Project Files: View on Google Drive
-

Reflection Questions

1. How was the meeting planned?
 2. What challenges were encountered?
 3. What was learned about online collaboration?
-

Individual Reflections

Effren Luzon

1. The meeting was planned in a way that was conducive to the goals set prior.
2. Personally, I haven't encountered any challenges in conducting and planning the meeting.
3. I learned that effective communication is a basic need in effective online collaboration.

Kylene Barreda

1. It was planned by giving out invites to everyone and setting a time for when the Google meeting starts.
2. The navigation and using the other platforms of Google, which is quite new.
3. Online collaboration is not new, and it does help smooth communications and collaborations.

David Gabayan

1. The meeting was planned via email invite to a Google Meet link. This is to have easier, streamlined communication.
2. Part of the challenges encountered were time conflicts of other members due to school schedules.
3. I've learned that even though an event/meeting is planned, not everything will go as planned. Something can always go wrong, and unexpected circumstances can and will occur.

Shanaiah Cava

1. The meeting was planned on our group chat in Messenger. David, as the host, sent the invitation through email.
2. The challenge was to set schedules since we all have different schedules. We needed to consider the availability of the members.
3. Online collaboration could be efficient in terms of distance. However, it is still better to have these types of meetings in person.

Ray Untal

1. The meeting was planned by having the host send a formal email invitation that included the Google Meet Link, schedule, and brief agenda, which helped set expectations early.
2. One challenge we encountered was scheduling conflicts, since aligning everyone's availability took some coordination and adjustments.
3. I learned how online meetings and events are realistically planned and the fact that unexpected issues can still happen even with preparation.

Erick Te

1. The meeting utilized Google Meet, giving us a quick way of communication and helping us discuss and move quickly from broad ideas to specific operational details.
2. The challenge we faced was the shortened time of our meeting. I think we could have discussed the details more thoroughly and how we should execute our event.
3. We used a shared 30 minutes for our ideas of what might happen during the event, which gave the team a quick window to contribute their ideas for the "Wellness" and "Creativity" booths prior to the session.